

What Our Students Say

Looking back at the couple of months when we sat across the table while the typing sound from the keyboard, our chatting and laughter filled the room, I couldn't help but be grateful for the guidance and care Karen has offered throughout the whole enjoyable US boarding school application essay-writing process.

I looked forward to every session with Karen. I shared with her my experiences and she provided me with guidance in brainstorming. I particularly enjoyed throwing ideas around the table and discussing them together. Instead of directly answering the essay prompts like what people perceive a school application essay writing workshop to be, Karen first tried to understand me better by asking prompting questions such as what significant experiences in my life have shaped my character, then we would delve into the deeper questions. Through allowing me to achieve a better understanding of myself and making me all the more grateful for all these experiences, this prepared me for answering the essay questions posted by the schools.

I love how Karen can assist in making all my thoughts come alive through vivid descriptions and help capture the very essence and feeling of each experience. I mastered a broader range of writing skills and styles, and most importantly, learned more about myself.
